Introduction from Terenja Humphries, Chair of CIEH

Dear prospective candidate,

Like many professional bodies, CIEH has been through a period of transformation. The working environment in which our members (and the wider profession) operate has been changing at speed, even more so in the context of the current public health emergency.

I became Chair in January and am now leading our Board in the implementation of its strategy and in support of our executive team. To help this work, we are now looking to appoint a further trustee to our Board and two members to our Learning and Qualifications Advisory Group.

Our Charter places an important obligation on us to act in the public interest; we are determined to do that in an open and transparent way. As part of that approach the Board commissioned an independent review of governance. We implemented each recommendation from that review and, since then, continue to review our governance arrangements on a regular basis.

We simplified CIEH's committee and advisory group structure with two key aims – to ensure probity and transparency and to provide CIEH with the best advice in key areas of its operation.

Alongside that, we want to ensure that those with governance roles reflect the diversity of the modern profession and the communities it serves.

Volunteers play a hugely important role in our organisation. If you would like to join the team leading and transforming CIEH, and the support that it gives to the profession, we would welcome an application from you.

Thank you for your interest.

Terenja Humphries

About CIEH

CIEH is the professional body for environmental health representing over 7,000 members in the public, private and third sectors. Building on its rich heritage, CIEH ensures the highest standards of professional competence in its members, in the belief that through environmental health people's health can be improved.

Information about our mission, vision and strategy can be found at:

www.cieh.org/about-us/what-we-do/mission-vision-and-corporate-strategy/

What is it like to take on a role in CIEH's governance?

Amanda Clarke

Amanda joined the Appointments and Remuneration Committee in 2017 and has recently been reappointed for a second term. She is a practicing Environmental Health professional with experience in hospitality management, the private sector and local government. She says: "It is a pleasure to sit on the Committee at an exciting time when so many committed professionals are putting themselves forward to be part of an Institute which has recognised the need for change. To be part of the process ensuring the organisation recruits the best possible candidates on to committees and the Board is both an impressive and rewarding experience. As a Chartered Environmental Health Practitioner, I feel my role on the committee represents the views of CIEH members. My commitment to the role is driven by a rewarding career that CIEH has supported along the way. CIEH genuinely wants to be more inclusive and welcoming and I'm pleased to be part of that change."

Andrea Higginbottom

Andrea is a member of CIEH's Learning and Qualifications Advisory Group – she joined in 2017. She currently heads business development for Flash Forward Consulting and specialises in helping professional service providers identify and make dynamic improvements to their business, so that they achieve their full potential. "When I heard CIEH was looking for advisors I knew it would be an invaluable opportunity for me to support the transformation of such a respected organisation. As a professional advisor I have had the chance to share the wide range of experience I've gained in industry with a variety of people, to help them further their goals. Personally, the role has been amazingly fulfilling too. I learn something new every day from the many specialist professionals we collaborate with."

Kirpal Tahim

Kirpal joined the Board as an appointed member in 2019. As a non-member of CIEH, he was largely unaware of the world of environmental health and of the Chartered Institute which serves these professionals. Looking at the published material, it was clear that CIEH had embarked on a very challenging journey to re-invent itself. This required pushing forward with a major overhaul of its own structure and resources, together with a thorough review the effectiveness of the benefits it offers to its existing and potential members. Kirpal felt that he could offer some help on this journey and learn more about issues facing environmental health. To this end, he aims to draw upon his business and commercial skills together with his experience of helping other charitable organisations as a trustee. He says: “I am beginning to appreciate the wide range of issues and disciplines which CIEH covers. I hope to work with the Board to explore how this renewed focus on professional development can be made more attractive to current and future members, particularly students while they are exploring career options.”

Board of Trustees – role and vacancies

The Board of Trustees is the ultimate decision-making body of CIEH.

CIEH has a wholly owned subsidiary company (CIEH Limited), the directors of which are the members of the Board of Trustees along with the Chief Executive. Members are also appointed as trustees of the Environmental Health Officers' Welfare Fund. Around half of the Board also serve as members of a committee or advisory group.

The role of the Board is to:

- Ensure that the organisation complies with its Charter, Byelaws, charity law and other relevant legislation or regulations
- Review and approve the strategic objectives of the organisation in collaboration with the Chief Executive and their management team
- Ensure that the needs of members and other stakeholders are considered
- Appoint the Chief Executive, co-opted Board members, defined committee and advisory group members
- Uphold and apply principles of equality and diversity
- Safeguard the wellbeing of CIEH's staff
- Approve the annual budget
- Ensure probity in all of CIEH's business operations

Board members also play an important role in stakeholder communications, supporting the Executive team.

The Board aims to ensure that, amongst its members, it has the wide range of experience, capacity and skills needed to provide leadership to CIEH, support its Chief Executive and their team and ensure robust governance.

CIEH's Board consists of 13 trustees:

- President
- Six trustees, elected by CIEH members
- Six co-opted trustees

The President and co-opted trustees are appointed by the Board, on the recommendation of the Appointments and Remuneration Committee.

This recruitment exercise is for one co-opted trustee and is open to both members of CIEH and non-members.

The Board is keen to see applications from people with a wide range of backgrounds. Particular areas of interest to it (listed in priority order) are:

- Experience of financial/budgetary management
- Experience of global interactions/forming relationships
- Commercial operational and strategic experience
- Organisational design and restructure experience
- Experience of media engagement

Learning and Qualifications Advisory Groups – role and vacancies

The aim of our committee and advisory group structure is to offer the Board expert advice through a robust, transparent and straightforward approach to governance.

The key responsibilities of the Learning and Qualifications Advisory Group are:

- Support the Board in its role as CIEH awarding organisation
- Provide oversight for CIEH qualifications and learning portfolio
- Assist CIEH in building strong and positive relationships with the higher education (HE) and further education (FE) community
- Report to the Board on quality assurance compliance

There are two vacancies in this Group:

- One of these must be filled by a CIEH member
- The other may be filled by either a member or a non-member – the person in this role must have a role in commissioning learning
- To broaden the base of the membership of the Group, applications are particularly welcomed (for either of these roles) from people who are responsible for the employment of environmental health practitioners

The onus is on you to declare any potential conflicts in your application form. The Panel will explore, fully, any conflicts of interest at interview.

Diversity

CIEH is committed to making appointments on merit alone using an open and transparent process. Our approach to blind recruitment is set out in the information pages of the application form.
